The best way to communicate with me is: You need to be patient with Joe and give him time to say what he needs to stay. Joe responds best to a calm, easy environment where he knows what to expect using a daily schedule that he creates with staff. Joe responds best when an uplifting voice is used. He is a visual learner.

Things I like to do: Joe loves to go to Aktion Club, seeing his friends, and participating in Special Olympics. He also enjoys watching Disney movies, listening to stories on his computer and dancing. Joe loves getting and giving gifts for the Holidays. He enjoys watching DVDs, reading books, volunteering at the food pantry, going on walks with others and his dog.

Things I need help with: Joe needs help with activities of daily living including cooking, cleaning, and doing activities. It is important to do these activities with him and not for him.

Any other important information to know: Guardians are requesting providers with reliable transportation. A dispositional/ character quality of maturity, reliability, assertiveness, confidence, patience, kindness, teachability, cheerfulness, and compassion.
